

I am in favor of a la carte cable/satelite service. I am a homemaker with a 9 year old step-son. His father works alot. There are some channels we don't particularary care for. So why should we have them? Also, there are single men that never watch Lifetime or other channels that women watch and vice-versa. Imagine a single woman subscribing to all the sports channels, I'm sure some women do, but why have them if we don't watch them?

Thank you for your time in reading this.

Sincerely,

Kathy W.
